Headline:
Heavy rain and gusty winds for some today. Colder tomorrow.

Today:
A dry start, but a band of occasionally heavy rain will spread eastwards throughout the morning, and will be accompanied by some gusty winds and also hail and thunder in places. The rian will turn more showery during the afternoon. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers will fade this evening, but a band of rain will then sink south during the early hours of Thursday morning. It will turn drier, clearer but colder by dawn. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Thursday:
A chilly but bright start on Thursday with mostly sunny skies. Feeling much colder than of late with a keen northwesterly wind, and just a chance of a few showers. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Feeling cold with a few showers again on Friday. It will then turn milder as we head throughout the weekend, with rain spreading in by Sunday accompanied by stronger winds.
